OVERSEAS DOCTORATE SCHOLARSHIP

SELECTION AND POST-SELECTION PROCESS

In general, this scholarship program has two stages of selection: Stage I is the administration selection where all documents will be reviewed in terms of their eligibility and authenticity. Applicants who meet the satisfying result will proceed to Stage II. In this stage, the applicants will follow some tests consisting of essay writing, interview, language tests, Academic Potential Test (TPA), and psychotest. Successful awardees will be given the opportunity to join Language and Academic Preparation (LAP) Program. Such programs aims to improve foreign language proficiency in accordance with the language of the instruction at the targeted university, finding potential supervisors, obtaining a Letter of Acceptance (LoA) from the university, and having adequate academic and non-academic skills to study in a foreign country, such as proposal writing, scientific articles, critical review, research methodology, academic networks and communication, and cross cultural skills. At the end of the program, awardees are expected to obtain Unconditional LoA and are ready to study overseas. The process is depicted in the following:

OVERSEAS DOCTORATE SCHOLARSHIP

As has been mentioned previously in the guidelines, the scholarship for doctorate degree consists of two (2) schemes: The Regular and The Customised Program

REGULAR PROGRAM

The Regular Program of Overseas Doctorate Scholarship gives wide opportunities to prospective applicants to pursue their doctoral study at reputable universities overseas.

The Regular Program allows wide opportunity for awardees to choose their university destinations. When doing so, they should consider the following:

1. Ensure that the university has supervisors who are experts in the field of study the awardees are willing to take;
2. Ensure that the university has a good reputation. Some ways to confirm its reputation are outlined below:
 - a. Times Higher Education (THE) or QS University rankings.
 - b. A list of foreign universities approved by the Higher Education (DIKTI), the Ministry of Research, Technology and Higher Education (<http://ijazahln.ristekdikti.go.id/ijazahln/>).
 - c. A list of foreign universities approved by Directorate of Islamic Higher Education (PTKI), the Ministry of Religious Affairs (contact subdit_akademik@kemenag.go.id, or <http://diktis.kemenag.go.id/penyetaraanijazah/>)
3. Universities which are not included in Point 2 may still be considered if the followings are evident:
 - a. A letter of recommendation by an alumni in the intended study program, or
 - b. The availability of expert professors in the field of study the awardess are willing to take.

CUSTOMISED PROGRAM

The Customised Program of Overseas Doctorate Scholarship is one of the accelerated efforts in sending educators (lecturers) and academic staffs to continue their doctoral studies at overseas universities that have cooperation with the Ministry of Religious Affairs. Generally, this program provides more advantages compared to the regular program, such as:

1. The selection process is carried out jointly by professors from university partners and the Ministry of Religious Affairs. As a result, awardees will have greater chances to be accepted at the targeted university;
2. The awardees are provided with additional programs to improve their English and academic skills held in university partners for 10 weeks (for special pathways leading to PhD);
3. Proposal writing assistance*;
4. Assistance in finding potential supervisor;
5. Assistance and consultation in terms of choosing appropriate study program;
6. Intensive monitoring and consultation in obtaining Unconditional Letter of Acceptance (LoA);
7. Monitoring and consultation during study.

*Applicable only in certain universities
